FROM THE WEST.

[From the Sacramento Union.]

San Francisco, December 28.

Gold yesterday in New York was 1324; sterling, 109@109½; Greenbacks, drooping under rumors to further rise in gold, 75; selling at 75@75½.

The David Crockett, which carried the first load of California wheat to Philadelphia, has arrived in 94 days, made the owners almost a fortune, and the shipper of the 2,000 tons of grain will clear from $50,000 to $75,000 by the speculation.

The Golden Age, for Panama to-morrow, carries over fifty cabin and about one hundred steerage passengers. It has been an exceedingly quiet steamer day.

Dr. J. W. Mackey, formerly a physician in Sacramento, after having been burned out with immense loss by the great fires of 1852 and 1853 while in the drug business in this city, died penniless and friendless in the County hospital to-day.

Arrived, steamer Orizaba, from San Pedro. She brought up a detachment of sixty-seven members of the First California Cavalry, Captain Stormbs Orton, and sixty-four men of the Fifth Infantry, Captain French. The last remnant of the California contingent they left at Los Pinos, New Mexico, October 15th, and made the entire march across to San Pedro, 1,100 miles, in two months and four days, having lost no stock and enjoyed good health all the way. They go to the Presidio to be mustered out of service.

The treasure shipment to-morrow, like the passenger list, will be the lightest for years.

The police are investigating a peculiar case. Two well known citizens were paying attentions to the same lady, and she finally accepted and agreed to marry one of them on Christmas day. After the engagement, the unfortunate suitor still continued his visits as a friend of the family until within a day or two of the time fixed for the wedding, when the accepted suitor mentioned to the lady that he did not like something in the conduct of the rival, and, therefore, did not desire him to be invited to the wedding. On Christmas the bridegroom did not appear to be married, and it now turns out that the rivals rode out together on the day previous, since which neither has been seen. It is feared that there has been foul play in the matter.

The new fire-alarm apparatus will be in operation to-morrow.

The Kewen-Howard duel at Los Angeles fizzled out entirely.

PANAMA NEWS.—From the San Francisco Times, of the 27th ult., we clip the following:

The arrival of the Golden Age places us in possession of Panama dates to the 10th of December. We clip the following summary from the Star and Herald of the 4th:

A meeting of the principal Catholics at Bogota, was held in the Church of San Carlos, on the 1st of November, at which a large subscription was raised and further steps taken to pay the current expenses of the church, and if anything was over to form a fund for administering the sacrament gratis to poor people, and establishing a school for poor children. General Mosquera contributed the sum of two hundred dollars.

It is reported that preparations are on foot for a revolution in Antioquia against Mosquera and an invasion of the Cauca by that State was dreaded. This is given by the papers merely as a rumor, and is not confirmed, although very probable.

Since writing the foregoing, dates have reached us from Bogota to the 17th, brought by the last French steamer. A private letter of that date states that much discontent and want of confidence exist in Bogota, and commerce is very dull.

The settlement of the trouble between General Mosquera and the Archbishop is attributed by some to the intervention of General Herran.

It is said that in all probability the Battalion Ayacucho will not come to the Isthmus.

Mr. Orrin proceeds to New York on the first steamer in order to procure a fresh company and new tent, leaving his horses here to recruit. He will return immediately and then make a tour of the West Indies, whence he will proceed again to Bogota, where he appears to have a rich harvest before him.

The Bishop of Carthagena and Santa Martha arrived at Aspinwall on the steamer Montezuma, en route for Jamaica, having refused to take the oath recently imposed upon the clergy by President Mosquera.

Instructions have also been sent to Panama to administer the oath to Bishop Vasquez. We have not heard what course his reverence will pursue, but presume he will decline to take the oath required, and leave the country.

This does not look like a confirmation of the report that the Archbishop of Bogota and the President had come to terms in regard to the church question.

A new diving apparatus, intended for pearl fishing in this bay, has been recently brought out from New York, and is now in course of construction at the railroad station. It is a boat about thirty-six feet in length, constructed in such a way as to be capable of propulsion, at a depth of several fathoms of water, and persons in it can remain working below for several hours in succession. The apparatus will be complete within two months.

NARROW ESCAPE.—The Amador Ledger says that the night of December 18th, during the prevalence of the heavy storm, a man by the name of Ferris, who resides with his family near Slabtown, got up and went to the door of his house for the purpose of looking out; his wife, becoming alarmed, immediately arose also, and had scarcely left the bed when a large tree, standing near by, was blown down, falling across the house and smashing the bed which they had occupied. Their infant, sleeping in a cradle by the side of the bed, escaped uninjured. This is certainly one of the most remarkable escapes we were ever called upon to record.

A man, in Wisconsin, was lately bitten in the ankle by a rattlesnake, and as soon as he could be carried to a house, drank half a pint of alcohol and camphor, then a quart of whiskey, and then a quart of pure alcohol, having no symptoms of intoxication. The [illegible] ing he felt some numbness and a [illegible] limb, and drank another pint of alcohol, then swallowed a quarter of a pound of cut chewing tobacco, boiled in water. These doses, which it is supposed would anybody, had no injurious effects, and fourth day after the bite he felt well only a little soreness from the [illegible]

That Christmas Sermon.

Yesterday we had occasion to quote some extracts from Brigham Young's sermon in the Tabernacle, on the 23d of December, as published in the News and Daily Telegraph. There is still another point in that document which, we think, is entitled to attention, as bearing somewhat on the question of misrepresentation, so often and so loudly charged on the Gentiles. In the latter part of the sermon—that devoted to the temporalities—the preacher charges home upon the Gentiles, and among other things says:

"The Bishop of the 13th Ward tried to collect school taxes from some of the 'Gentile' population. They refused to pay, and suits were commenced before the District Court. That Court decided that we had no right to make a law to collect taxes to build school houses. In any of our neighboring Territories an opposite decision would have been given; but here expounders of the law encourage outsiders not to pay a single dollar of taxes if they can help it, or do anything to improve the city, to erect public buildings, or to maintain public peace and good order.

Now, we submit that no man occupying a public position ought ever to allow himself to make so sweeping and so unfounded a charge as that contained in the italicised portion of the above extract. If he don't know what he is talking about, and has neither the means nor the disposition to inform himself, he had better, far, hold his peace. An uncharitable world is very apt to place the worst construction upon his motives, and do not readily attribute a misstatement to ignorance. Moreover, this statement seems to be a pet one with Brigham Young, for it was embodied in his published Reply to the Gentile merchants, and we find it repeated in his Christmas sermon. If he had applied to the "Bishop of the 13th Ward," he would have ascertained that the Court never did "decide that we" (the Mormon people) "had no right to make a law to collect taxes to build school houses," but on the contrary, the Chief Justice went somewhat out of the way to declare that the professed object of the law (the building of school houses) was one which challenged the strongest sympathies of the Court. There can be very little doubt that if the law in question had not been so palpably and outrageously defective, but had contained any of the elements of a valid enactment it would have been sustained by the Court by reason of its sympathy with the object intended.

The decision of the Supreme Court (the District Court never had anything to do with it) was printed in full in the VEDETTE of December 1st, and the only thing that relieves Brigham from the charge of willful misrepresentation of that decision, is the "fact" that he never reads the "vile sheet," though he, from time to time, insists that we do nothing but abuse and slander the people.

We quote from the printed decision of Chief Justice Titus, in which both the Associate Justices concurred. After quoting at length from the several School Tax laws, including the one immediately before the Court, he says:

"From none of these Acts, subsisting or repealed, does it appear that any responsibility or qualification is or ever has been required of school trustees in this Territory. The usual oaths of fidelity and bonds with securities are all dispensed with."

"The allegations of the complainant's bill are, that the Act under which these defendants have been proceeding is null and void for want of the requisite precautionary legal sanctions, that all acts done under it are and can be no other than unauthorized and unlawful, and that this Court has the power and ought to restrain the said defendants from all further proceedings against the complainant upon the law for the tax in question.

The defendants in the answer affirmed the validity of the law, and this was the immediate question (including others of minor importance) brought before the Court. The opinion then proceeds as follows:

"Thus stands the case upon the pleadings and accompanying admissions. It must be conceded, that there are in jurisprudence, like the axioms in exact science, certain fundamental principles which cannot be negatived or disregarded. Many of these have been recognized by the Courts as well as positively declared by the highest legislative authority. Among other such, in the Constitution of the United States, Article V, of the Amendments, two last clauses of the article, we find that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation."

"This citation, which strongly illustrates the present case, justifies the subjoined statement of practical principles, which are submitted as self-evident in themselves, that is: No tax is legal which is not for some necessary, or at least useful public purpose; no tax is legal, whose amount arbitrarily exceeds the purpose of its creation; no tax is legal, which is not equally and impartially laid on the tax-payers; no tax is legal, which is not economical, honest and responsible in its administration; and no tax law is valid in so far as it fails to secure these conditions to the tax-payer in particular and to the public in general."

Without quoting the manifold reasons set up in the complaint and referred to in the decision as showing the inequality, oppressiveness, unconstitutionality and invalidity of the law in question, we content ourself with the foregoing statement of the Judge.

The decision did strike a severe blow against that sort of legislation of which the School tax law was a glowing example, and we have never heard of a man, lawyer or layman, Bishop or Elder, who read the Act in question, who did not come to the same conclusion that the Court did. Indeed, we have it from high authority that Brigham himself, before the suit was instituted to test it, declared it impossible of legal enforcement by reason of its crudeness and imperfections. Yet because the Gentile merchants did not choose meekly to submit to be despoiled of their goods under such a law, their resistance to it is proclaimed from the pulpit as a heinous offence, and one of the strong reasons why they should be and are proscribed. Because the Courts when appealed to were bound under their oaths to declare the Act unconstitutional and void, they are charged with deciding that the Legislature cannot pass a law to ... for school purposes! As ... has said the Court ... but although putting ... the act in ... We quote once more from the decision:

"Taxation is always one of the most repulsive, and may be one of the most ruinous exercises of public power. It can have, however, hardly a less exceptionable object than the support of common schools; and were there no exceptions to the law in question, apart from its purpose, this Court would scarcely feel itself authorized to disturb its operation.

So much for the fairness, candor, and correctness of the statement of Brigham in the pulpit.

[SPECIAL TO THE "DAILY UNION VEDETTE."]

London, January 7.

Frank Mayo, a young California tragedian, closed a successful engagement on Saturday night.

Chicago, January 7.

The citizens of Columbia, South Carolina, combined to rebuild the city.

A Washington special says the action of the caucus promises to secure a full consideration of the subject of impeachment by the Judiciary Committee, to whom all the resolutions will be referred without debate. While most agree that there is not sufficient time to complete a trial this session, the majority deem it important to institute an investigation of the subject.

Seward's project of having election in Mexico having failed, holders of bonds are reviving their attempts to get Congress to guarantee 7 per cent. interest on $10,000,000. They say if Juarez can get this money, he can ... ly inaugurate a government.

The prevailing opinion seems to be that Congress will do little or nothing with the tariff or currency question.

Mr. Howard offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Public Lands to inquire what legislation was necessary to protect the interest of the United States in lands granted for railroad purposes before the completion of railroads, and in homestead lands before the issue of patents; adopted.

Unfinished business of the last day's session, which was the bill to admit Nebraska, was taken up.

Mr. Wade said, as the Senate was not full he had no desire to press the bill to-day, and a postponement was agreed to, and made special order for Monday.

Mr. Edmonds gave notice that he would to-morrow call up the bill to libel vessels used in carrying persons so induced to emigrate.

Mr. Hendricks moved to amend the bill by striking out the words negro, mulatto, or other such names, so as to make it read, that if any one shall by fraudulent representations induce any person, etc.

Mr. Sumner said if this were adopted, the reader of the bill would not be so carefully on his guard against the particular evil sought to be cured in the framing of the bill. The Committee had only followed the precedent as heretofore adopted by Congress.

On motion of Washburne, the Secretary of the Treasury was directed to communicate the results of the investigation in the case of the loss of the steamer Evening Star; also directed to institute inquiry into the causes of the loss of the steamer Commodore on Long Island Sound, and report what further legislation is necessary for the protection of passengers on steam vessels.

Mr. Wentworth asked leave to offer the following: Resolved, that the Committee on Judiciary be instructed to report what measure, if any, can be taken to prevent the Supreme Court from releasing and discharging the assassins of Mr. Lincoln, and the conspirators to release the Rebel prisoners at Camp Douglas in Chicago under the color and pretense of the law of 1863; and also to inquire into the expediency of repealing said law.

Mr. Eldridge objected.

Mr. Hubbard offered a resolution, declaring that the House will not consent to the appropriation of the first dollar for the payment for property destroyed by the Union army while engaged in putting down the rebellion; referred.

In Virginia the freedmen decreased in number; the present population is estimated, at this date, at 500,000; North Carolina, about the census of 1860, 349,000; South Carolina decreased, the present population is estimated at 375,000; Georgia, population estimated at 400,000; Florida has remained about the same as when the census of 1860 was taken, 62,677. In Mississippi, as the census has been taken since the close of the war, showing a slight decrease; 320,000 is the present colored population. In Louisiana no change is reported, the reported colored population is 350,000. In Texas, the Assistant Commissioner of the State reports an increase in the colored population, and is now estimated at 200,000. In Missouri it is probable that the freedmen have left the State in large numbers for Kansas, Iowa, etc., and is now estimated that the population is 100,000. In Arkansas the colored population has decreased to about 100,000. In Tennessee the Assistant Commissioner estimates an increase from 283,000, the population in 1860, to 300,000. The reports contain evidence that the manner of executing the laws in some parts of the South does injury to the freed people. There is necessity of enforcing General Order No. 44, from the Headquarters of the Armies of the United States.

Washington, January 7.

The Supreme Court will not announce its decision in the Test oath case until the 14th inst. The majority opinion will be delivered by Justice Grier, sustained by Clifford, Nelson, Field and Wayne; the dissenting opinion by Justice Miller, sustained by Chase, Davis and Swayne.

The Committee on Ways and Means will not recommend any change in the tax on cotton.

General Dix's nomination to the French Mission will be confirmed by the Senate in a day or two.

The Supreme Court has decided that shares in National banks are not liable to State or municipal taxation.

The statement that General Grant approves of the President's veto of the Franchise bill is untrue. He told the Arkansas delegation to go home, pass the Constitutional Amendment, and pass a bill granting universal suffrage.

Washington, January 7.

The President has returned the District Suffrage bill to the Senate with his veto message, which is grounded on the opposition manifested to it by a majority of the people of the District, and the want of capacity in persons upon whom the elective privilege is proposed to be conferred.

In the House, Ashley reported his impeachment resolution, charging the President with high crimes and misdemeanors, and instructing the Judiciary Committee to inquire into all the facts, with power to send for persons and papers.

Spaulding moved to lay on the table, which was negatived, and the resolution was subsequently referred.

London, January 7.

The banquet given by the Royal Thames Yacht Club to the gentlemen of the American yachts took place on Saturday, Lord Paget presiding. Speeches were made expressing the most cordial feelings towards the United States.

Chicago, January 7.

The Illinois Legislature organized to-day. Franklin Corwin was chosen Speaker of the House.

The opponents of Senator Trumbull in the Union party have united upon Gen. John M. Palmer, and there is a sharp race for the Senatorship, but Trumbull has undoubtedly the lead.

New York, January 7.

Negotiations for merging the Southwest Pacific Railroad into the Atlantic and Pacific Road were concluded to-day. Henry H. Ward, Leonard W. Jerome, President of the Board of Directors, Paul S. Forbes, and Charles Gould were elected to the Board of Directors of the latter company.

Washington, January 7.

In the Senate, Wade called up the Nebraska bill, and Howe made a speech in favor of it and of the right of suffrage to the colored race.

The question being upon an amendment to the effect that the Act shall take effect only upon the fundamental condition that there shall be no distinction in civil and political rights among the inhabitants of Nebraska on account of color, and that the legislature of that State shall agree to said condition before admission, it was disagreed to.

At 5 o'clock the Senate adjourned.

House—Loan, of Missouri, offered a resolution in substance, that to secure the fruits of victories during the war, it is the imperative duty of the 39th Congress without delay to accomplish the following objects:

First. The impeachment of the officer now exercising the functions of President of the United States and his removal from office, for high crimes and misdemeanors of which he is notoriously guilty and render him unsafe to exercise the powers he unlawfully assumed.

Second. Provide an administration in the Executive Department.

Third. Provide means for the immediate reconstruction of the States lately in rebellion, except Tennessee.

Fourth. Secure by Federal authority the right of ... for negroes in the Southern States.

Loan's resolution created great excitement. Davis moved to lay it on the table; negatived 40 to 103. Immediately Ashley, of Ohio, rose and asked question of privilege and read, by the clerk, the following:

I do impeach Andrew Johnson, Vice President and acting President of the United States, of high crimes and misdemeanors; I charge him with usurpation of power and violation of law, in that he has corruptedly abused the appointing power; in that he has corruptedly disposed of public property of the United States; in that he has corruptedly interfered in elections and committed acts, and conspired with others to commit acts which, in contemplation of the Constitution, are high crimes and misdemeanors. Therefore, be it resolved, that the Committee on Judiciary be and are hereby authorized to inquire into the official conduct of Andrew Johnson, Vice President, discharging the powers and duties of President of the United States, and to report to this House whether, in their opinion, the said Andrew Johnson, while in said office, has been guilty of acts which tend to corrupt the Government of the United States, or any Department or officer thereof, and whether said Andrew Johnson has been guilty of any act, or conspired with others to do acts, which, in the contemplation of the Constitution, are high crimes requiring the interposition of the Constitutional powers of the House. That said Committee have the power to send for persons and papers and to administer the customary oaths.

Mr. Spaulding moved to lay on the table; negative by 39 to 109. The resolution was adopted.

Paris, January 7.

Reports from Madrid represent the Spanish Government taking great military precautions against the threatened outbreak.

Portland, Me., January 7.

A train on the Great Falls and Conway railroad ran off the track at South Berwick, and a passenger car containing thirty-five persons, was hurled down a steep forty feet embankment. Nearly all on board were more or less injured. The accident was caused by ice.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 7.

A resolution was adopted to-day in the Senate for the appointment of a committee of five to investigate the sale of certain railroads by Governor Fletcher.

St. Joseph, Mo., January 7.

An attempt was made last night to blow up the dry goods and grocery store of Isaac Rosenthal. A druggist in the adjoining store, saw light and smelt cotton burning. He forced the door, and discovered a candle sitting on some cotton and under it a keg of powder. One minute later and the block would have been shattered and many lives lost. Rosenthal and Levi, his partner, have been arrested. They were insured for several thousand dollars over valuation.

Telegrams from the plains say Sweetwater station was burned by Indians on the 1st. A party of telegraph men were there to-day and found the dead and mutilated body of one soldier and the telegraph operator.

Chicago, January 8.

Washington specials to the Republican say the scene in the House yesterday was the most impressive of the session. Whatever final issue of the movement for impeachment, it has reached its first stage. The Republicans who voted to lay Ashley's resolution on the table, were Davis, Dodge, Hubbell, of Ohio, Raymond, Spalding and Wildey. During the proceedings many Senators came in with excited interest. There were no speeches made, except a feeble and indecisive opposing skirmish, which showed the weakness of the minority. The Judiciary Committee will immediately organize and take testimony.

FROM THE WEST.

San Francisco, December 30.

We have not had a trace of frost in the vicinity of San Francisco this season, and the thermometer has ranged over 60 degrees every day during the month.

Several failures of produce houses are announced, among them Lindsey & Co., who were also owners of the steamer Salmas; Curtis & Allan, and Brennan & McHugh. The attachments levied on the latter already reach over $40,000, and the liabilities of Curtis & Allen are said to be heavy.

The impression is very general among dealers that a further considerable decline in breadstuffs is inevitable; also sales of choice brands of superfine flour made last night, show a decline of 50 cents per barrel, and choice wheat for exportation a decline of 5 to 10 cents.

The exports of treasure by the Colorado will be larger than expected and will fall but little short of the shipments by the Golden Age—say half a million.

The leading Chinese houses are shipping largely of Mexican dollars.

GOAT ISLAND TO BE A MILITARY POST.—Orders have recently been received from Washington, directing the military authorities to take possession of Goat Island and establish a military post thereon. Following is the order on the subject issued by General McDowell:

Pursuant to orders from the headquarters of the Division of the Pacific, of December 14th, and in conformity with the instructions of the President of the United States, of November 20th, a military post is ordered to be established on the Government military reservation of the island of Yerba Buena, San Francisco harbor, California. Every person now residing on the island, or in any way occupying it, will be required to take out a lease from the Deputy Quartermaster General, at Department headquarters. Quarters, for the detachment at Yerbe Buena Island will be erected as soon as possible, in accordance with plans and instructions to be communicated by Brevet Colonel R. W. Kirkham, Chief Quartermaster of the Department.

HOMICIDE.—About two o'clock on the morning of the 26th a terrible tragedy occurred in the bar-room of the Exchange Hotel, in this place, resulting in the immediate death of a miner named Martin Doran. A few persons were drinking at the bar when a quarrel, superinduced we are informed, by an old feud, arose between Doran and James W. Downey. After exchanging a few words both parties stepped back from the bar and commenced fighting—Doran with a pistol, which he did not fire, and Downey with a knife. Doran was stabbed nine times, and died almost instantly. Downey was not seriously injured.—Esmeralda Union, 29th ult.
